

SIR GERRY ROBINSON OFFERS BUSINESSES A LIFELINE

It's no secret that thousands of businesses have hit hard times recently. Many will be looking for a fresh perspective, new ideas or simply a cash injection to overcome challenges in these turbulent months.

Renowned businessman and trouble-shooter Sir Gerry Robinson specialises in helping businesses that are in difficulty. In a major new Channel 4 documentary series, we will be following Gerry as he tries to help some of Britain's businesses by offering not only expert practical advice but also substantial investment to give them a new lease of life.

Gerry strongly believes that 'a bit of extra credit, a bit of careful mentoring, just some decisive action at the right time could really save these businesses and they can go on to do amazing things'. Each programme will see him working intensively with firms that could benefit from both his expertise and his investment.

We are currently looking for privately-owned businesses with an annual turnover in the region of £500k to £10m, which are struggling and think Gerry's guidance and financial support could help them turn a corner.
